

The Pixel Gang – Fact sheet

Computer club activities for 7 to 12 year old children in Bromley South London

www.thepixelgang.co.uk info@thepixelgang.co.uk 07546 905 718

Transform your child from a user of games and websites, into a creator

Our children love to play computer games, use the internet, and engage with desktop and mobile devices, but we all know how distracting and addictive they can be.

Our fun computer club courses harness your child's enthusiasm, and channel it towards the development of creative, analytical and technical skills that will give them a head start in their school work, creative projects and future careers.

Our courses

We run after schools, weekend and holiday courses in the Bromley area for 7 to 12 year olds. Our courses support and complement the new national Computing curriculum by utilising activities which excite, inspire and motivate children, such as games design, website design, digital images and video production.

Our regular free taster sessions are an ideal way for your child to experience what we do, have fun learning a digital media skill, and decide whether or not they would enjoy attending a full course.

Who are we?

The Pixel Gang is run by Tracy Jewitt and Matt Ottewill, parents of a 7 year old girl and 9 year old boy. We have been working in the education, childcare and creative and media sectors throughout our working lives and between us have 50 years experience. Ours is a project run by parents for parents and their children.

How can I find out more?

Our website at www.thepixelgang.co.uk contains detailed information about us and our courses.

You can contact us by phone on 07546 905 718 or email info@thepixelgang.co.uk with your questions.